

MANAGEMENT INFORMATION SYSTEMS QUARTERLY
Table of Contents

Special Issue

December 1982

EDITORIAL PREVIEW ..... iii

“Future Role of the Information Systems Executive,” John F. Rockart, MIT, Leslie Ball, Babson College, and Christine V. Bullen, MIT ..... 1

Presents a model for the information systems executive to use as a set of guidelines for positioning themselves to meet the challenges of the IS function in the coming years.

“Graphical User Interfaces for Business Information Systems,” Blake Ives, Dartmouth College ..... 15

Discusses typical and atypical applications of computer graphics for presenting business information.

“Managing Information Systems Personnel: A Review of the Literature and Managerial Implications,” Kathryn M. Bartol, University of Maryland, and David C. Martin, American University ..... 49

Reviews empirical and selected conceptual research on managing human resources in the information systems field and points toward general conclusions.

“New Information Technology and Organizational Culture,” Margrethe H.
Olson ..... 71

Focuses on changes in individual work patterns, management control, and organizational structure that may occur as a result of implementation of office technology.

“Inter-Organization Information Sharing Systems,” Stephanie Barrett and Benn Konsynski, University of Arizona ..... 93

*Discusses concepts underlying the growth of Inter-Organizational Information Sharing Systems (IS*).*