

MANAGEMENT INFORMATION SYSTEMS QUARTERLY

Table of Contents

JUNE 1979

Volume 3, Number 2

EDITORIAL PREVIEW	ii
-------------------------	----

INTERVIEW

John H. Biggs, Vice Chancellor for Financial Affairs, and Robert J. Benson, Assistant Vice Chancellor, Washington University	1
--	---

APPLICATION

"Making Operational Long-Range Planning for Information Systems," Marjorie A. Lyles, Indiana University	16
--	----

A methodology is described for making a formalized long-range planning process operational within an information systems group.

"A 'Balanced' Orientation for the Information Systems Manager," William M. Taggart, Florida International University, and Valdur Silbey, Ball State University	21
--	----

Analysis of critical incident data suggests the necessity of achieving a systems/user balance appropriate to the organization's stage of information systems evolution.

"The Implementation Process: A Change Approach," Robert W. Zmud, Georgia State University, and James F. Cox, Auburn University	35
--	----

An implementation approach is presented for use in situations where a substantial amount of organizational change is intended or expected once the MIS is operational.

THEORY AND RESEARCH

"Planning for MIS: A Decision Oriented Approach," John C. Henderson, Ohio State University, and John M. West, Jr., Whirlpool Corporation	45
--	----

A Structured process is used to generate both critical decisions and information needs for a manufacturing firm.

INFORMATION FOR AUTHORS	59
-------------------------------	----

1980 SOCIETY AWARDS COMPETITION	63
---------------------------------------	----